ABOUT the TEACHERS

Stuart & Tracy Palmer have been teaching and training amateur and professional ballroom dancers for over 20 years. Both had experience managing at the World's #1 franchised dance studio.

Tracy managed the new student department while still teaching select students as well as performing professionally.

Stuart managed the advanced student department, trained new instructors, coached professional competitors, choreographed staff performances, as well as competing with amateur and professional partners.

While all that might sound impressive, Stuart & Tracy both agree that helping people discover the joy of becoming a comfortable and confident social dancer is still the main reason they teach.

You'll find their teaching style and business practices very refreshing!

What our students are saying:

"Tracy & Stuart make learning a pleasure when I thought it would be torture!"

"This is more fun than therapy and much less expensive!"

"We haven't played together in years. I actually look forward to it."

"Dance night has become the highlight of our week!"

"We've always wanted to learn to dance, but never made the time. It's been a fabulous excuse for a date night. I'm so glad that we made the leap to get started."
